Admin Dashboard

1 KPI Cards Not Filtering by Status When Navigating UX

Clicking "Active Offices (10)" was navigating to Office Management but showing all 11 offices instead of only the active ones. Each KPI card now passes its corresponding status filter — clicking Active Offices shows only active offices, clicking Suspended shows only suspended ones, and so on.

2 Verify Office Action Had No Feedback and Was Slow PERFORMANCE

Clicking Verify Office or Unverify Office showed no confirmation and required a full list reload before the change was visible, making it feel unresponsive. The action now updates the verified badge instantly and shows a success toast message. If the server request fails, the change is automatically rolled back.

3 Deactivate Account Dialog Had Broken Layout UX

The Deactivate Account confirmation dialog in Customer Management had a stretched and misaligned layout — large empty space, oversized Confirm button, and misaligned Cancel/Confirm pair. The dialog is now compact with a properly sized textarea, aligned buttons, and a loading indicator on the Confirm button while the action is processing.

4 Dropdown Menu Items Had No Pointer Cursor UX

Action menu items such as View Details, Open Public Profile, Verify Office, and Delete Permanently did not show a pointer cursor on hover, making them feel non-interactive. All dropdown menu items across the platform now correctly display a pointer cursor.

Customer Account

5 No Option to Update Name or Phone Number FEATURE

Customer accounts had no way to update their profile information after registration. An Edit Profile section has been added to the customer account page where users can update their full name and phone number. Changes are saved immediately without requiring a logout.

6 No Option to Change Password for Customers FEATURE

Customers had no way to change their account password. A Change Password section has been added with current password verification and a new password confirmation field, each with a show/hide toggle. On success, the session is securely terminated and the user is redirected to log in with their new password.
